Intended Learning Outcomes:

After taking the course, students will:

1. Gain an overview of Chinese philosophy, discovering how Chinese philosophers make sense of the universe in which they live, how they position themselves both as individuals and as members of the society, and what ideals are they committed to, on both personal and societal levels.
2. Familiarize themselves with both the primary and secondary sources fundamental to the study of Chinese philosophy.

3. Strengthen their ability to present their points of view and comment on those of others in front of an audience.
4. Learn how to think critically when conducting their research on the subjects they choose and to write professionally when delivering their findings.
